NEW QUESTION: 1

What are the two possible effects on the database when the data storage property of a parent member in the sparse Entity dimension is set to Dynamic Calc?

- A. The member is not available for process management.
- B. Essbase data block size decrease.
- C. Data cannot be input to the parent in target versions.
- D. Retrieval performance could be slower when referencing the parent entity member.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

A: Usage of dynamic calc in sparse dimension includes benefits such as shorter aggregations smaller database size.

C: Consider the number of members underneath a sparse parent. It's generally good practice to have few (up to 20) members under dynamic sparse parents if your block size is not massively huge. This number might increase if your block size is tiny.

Explanation

Box 1: Yes

A Basic Load Balancer supports virtual machines in a single availability set or virtual machine scale set.

Box 2: Yes

When using load-balancing rules with Azure Load Balancer, you need to specify health probes to allow Load Balancer to detect the backend endpoint status. The configuration of the health probe and probe responses determine which backend pool instances will receive new flows. You can use health probes to detect the failure of an application on a backend endpoint. You can also generate a custom response to a health probe and use the health probe for flow control to manage load or planned downtime. When a health probe fails, Load Balancer will stop sending new flows to the respective unhealthy instance. Outbound connectivity is not impacted, only inbound connectivity is impacted.

Box 3: No

NEW QUESTION: 3

Universal Containers acquires planetary shipping and decides to migrate all customer contacts of planetary Shipping into Universal Containers Salesforce org. Due to the lack of common unique identifier, they decide that a combination of first name, last name and street address could be used as a key to identify duplicate contacts. These three fields are populated on all contacts in both the systems. Which two methods should be considered to load contacts into Universal Containers org and avoid creation of duplicate contacts? Choose 2 answers

- A. Create an indexed formula field for (first name+last name + street number) so that a search can be done on the key before loading records.
- B. Create a new formula field for (first name+last name + street number) in universal containers org and use it as External ID.
- C. Create no new fields, but define the three fields (first name+last name + street number) as External IDs in universal Containers org.
- D. Create a new text field to contain a hashed value for (first name+last name + street number) in Universal containers org and define it as External ID.
